OFFERS FOR THE STREET RAILWAY

Coast Capitalists Will Offer to Take Over Edmonton Street Railway Franchise.

"In all probability we will receive two, and probably three, offers for the street railway franchise within the next two weeks," said Mayor McDevitt, who is a representative of the Bulletin in this morning. While Edmonton capitalists are generally strong in favor of municipal control of the city franchise, there are many who look upon the street railway proposition as an exception to the general rule. Nothing has been heard since last fall of Mr. Ballour, the English capitalist, whose interests were being looked after by Mr. Coombs of Toronto. A party of Coast capitalists are looking towards this city, however, and it is probable they may make an offer shortly.

Heroic Action of Steamboat Fireman in Saving Drowning Hungarian Laborer.

Montreal, April 6.—Miller and Henry's boat, at the waterworks dock, was the scene of a heroic battle for life this morning. The principals were Thomas Atkins, of 1200 Dufferin street, a steamboat fireman, and two Hungarian laborers employed in the waterworks tunnel. While scuffling in the crowd of the men fell overboard. Atkins, the fireman, pulled one out and then returned for his man.

The fellow, who was a huge Hungarian laborer of great strength, commenced to fight as soon as he reached the top of the water. He seized Atkins by the neck, and in his frenzied pounce shoved him under. Atkins, not deterred, instant he got his head above water, but the Hungarian, terrified, clung upon his rescuer's shoulders and shoved him under again.
The next time he came up he seized a heavy log at the waterworks dock, but the log only stimulated the Hungarian to further action, and for several moments there was a lively battle for life in the cold water.

Finally, Atkins succeeded in dislodging the Hungarian from his grasp,
and the latter, exhausted, was carried to the shore by a crowd of onlookers. Atkins, who was a fireman on the steamboat "The Scotia," was praised for his heroic action.

THE MARVELLOUS DEVELOPMENT OF EDMONTON FARMING DISTRICT

Anyone who has made a careful study of the conditions prevailing in Western Canada cannot fail to have reached the conclusion that the agricultural industry is the backbone of the country, upon which depends, in greater or less extent, all other forms of business. Perhaps in no better way is this illustrated than in the fact that a bad season for the western farmer almost invariably results in a depression in all lines of trade.

Among the many rich agricultural sections of Western Canada, perhaps none are attracting more widespread attention than that of the Edmonton district. With fertile soil and a climate suitable for all forms of mixed farming, this district has justified the faith placed in it years ago by the early settlers who came to the frontier near Edmonton to take up land and make new homes for themselves. With the rapid growth and advancement of the country railways have been and are now being built through Edmonton, giving an outlet for the products of the district east, west and south. The accompanying map is a good illustration of the strategic location of Edmonton in the very centre of Western Canada, showing the three great railway systems that connect this district with the outside world.

The Price of Land.

While in the early years since the old Hudson's Bay post of Edmonton was established on the north bank of the Saskatchewan the growth of the city and district only dates back some ten years, when the Klondike gold rush which passed through Edmonton first attracted the attention of the public to the great possibilities of this district. The following statement compiled by the Edmonton board of trade, shows clearly the advance in the price of land in this district in the past ten years:

Year.	Price per acre.
1890.....	$2.00
1895.....	3.00
1900.....	5.00
1901.....	6.00
1902.....	8.00
1903.....	$3.50 to $4.00
1903.....	5.00 to 6.00

In other words, a quarter section of land (160 acres) in 1896 in the Edmonton district was worth only $400 and was a drag on the market at that price. Today the same quarter section cannot be bought for less than $15 per acre, or $2,400. A five-acre increase in value in 10 years.

Not in the development of the country and the advance in land prices confined exclusively to the past. Present men who have carved a standard and western conditions state that the next few years will see more development in the Canadian Northwest than occurred during the last twenty years.

The Yield of Grain.

As a proof of the productivity of the soil in the Edmonton district the following statistics showing the yield per acre in the various grains might be of interest:

Grain	Yield per acre
Spring wheat.....	22 to 30
Winter wheat.....	25 to 30
Oats.....	40 to 50
Barley.....	30 to 40
Flax.....	10 to 15
Rye.....	20 to 30
Speltz.....	25 to 30

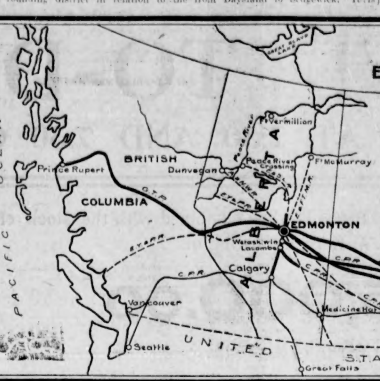

The actual yield as shown by the official government returns is as follows:

Grain	Yield per acre
Spring wheat.....	22.50
Winter wheat.....	25.34
Oats.....	39.75
Barley.....	29.04
Flax.....	10.16
Rye.....	22.61
Speltz.....	25.91

The yield given above are based on farmers' measure and not by weight, thus the actual yield is much heavier than that reported. For example, the standard weight of oats per bushel is 48 pounds per measure bushel, but those grown in Alberta average from 40 to 45 pounds per measure bushel; therefore, the yield of oats if given by weight would be at least one-fifth to one-tenth greater, bringing the estimate of the west. Centrally located between Winnipeg and the Pacific coast, surrounded by some of the most fertile land in the country and tapped by three great railway systems the situation offered at once to any who have seen the advantages of school and church privileges as well as neighbors instead of partial or complete

In the farm houses reproduced are two examples out of many in the Edmonton district, where farmers have grown rich here in a few years. The one is that of Thomas Daly, of Clover Bar, who came to this country a few years ago with little or nothing and who now owns a half section of the finest land in the province, and occupies a secure financial position. The other is the home of D. A. Craig, of Sturgeon, who, starting with nothing a few years ago has since made a centenary in farm and coal lands. Last year the oats on his farm yielded from 20 to 30 bushels per acre, and the wheat from 25 to 30 bushels.

The accompanying cut of the church and public school buildings at Nanaimo also show that attention is given to the moral and intellectual side of life and that the people do not devote their time exclusively to making money.

Perhaps the most striking illustration of the productivity of the soil is a district of homes of prosperous owners who have grown rich (illuminated in the district are those showing the grain crop, both in stock and in the stacks. These were taken last year, which was reported to be a very poor
